

Assistant Professor, Geology

Please quote reference number GEO1201 on all correspondence.

Cape Breton University (CBU) is located on Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia's tourism centrepiece and home to rich Celtic, Mi'kmaq, and Acadian culture. CBU has a reputation for small class sizes, strong community involvement, and strong internal support for faculty research. CBU invites applications for a tenure-track position in Geology at the rank of Assistant Professor to commence July 2012, subject to budget approval.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in such areas as introductory geology principles, physical geology, engineering geology, and hydrogeology and participate in program development.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Geology, preferably with related postdoctoral research and teaching experience. Research specialization is open. Preference will be given to those who can establish a research program that takes advantage of geological resources in Cape Breton and collaborations with the recently established Centre for Sustainability for Energy and the Environment (<http://w2.cbu.ca/csee/>).

Applicants are expected to demonstrate potential and commitment with regard to teaching, research/creative/scholarly activities and service to Cape Breton University, community and profession. The union affiliation of this position is with the Cape Breton University Faculty Association.

Qualified candidates should send a letter of application quoting the reference number, a complete dossier including curriculum vitae, copy of academic transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a sample publication and three current letters of reference (sent directly to CBU) to the Human Resources Department. Review of applications will commence February 15, 2012. The position will remain open until it is filled. Email applicants will receive a return email confirming receipt.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. CBU is an equal opportunities employer. CBU encourages applications from qualified Aboriginal People, African Canadians or other persons from a visible minority group, persons with disabilities and women. Applicants who wish to be considered for this initiative should self-identify in their cover letter.
